RED CROSS CONCERT

SECOND BENEFIT UNDER DR. HARROWER'S DIRECTION A MUSICAL TREAT

It was even better than the first, as was promised, but fewer people were there to enjoy it. However, the workers made more than $200. Not bad, when people are so wrought up about the high cost of living that many seem to fear they will starve to death within the year, or at least before the war is over. It is perfectly natural for certain people to take their pleasures sadly. They get great enjoyment from so doing. Why mar their ecstacies?

Before the curtain rose, Los Angeles Y. M. C. A. Activity Director O. E. Von Oven, a resident of Glendale, announced a meeting in the High School next Thursday evening, when prominent speakers (among them "our own Mattison") would tell something of what President Wilson says he expects of the Y. M. C. A. "Two armies are mobilizing: the army of the Nation and the army of Vice. The main object of the military Y. M. C. A. is to keep the two apart. A man's job."

Mrs. Gibson's High School orchestra continually improves. Its young pianiste, Miss Elizabeth Mottern (daughter of the Lutheran pastor), is a fine orchestral accompaniste, a promising singer, too.

Dr. Harrower led the community singing of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," accompanied by the orchestra, and Katherine Lee Bates' "Hymn to America," accompanied by Miss Gertrude Champlain. To fill in the number of absent Mrs. Gordon Wheatley, who was to sing "A May Morning," he sang as a solo, in French, the grand old "Marseillaise," the war song of France, in a most creditable manner, waving the French red, white and blue, which evoked great and uproarious applause. That audience, standing, evidently realized that France is once more our friend and ally, both in peace and war.

F. H. Cowen's Bridal Song was charmingly sung by Mrs. Zetta Gibbons and Mr. Dore Goode. First verse, off the stage. Then march in to the wedding march, and sing another verse or two, then march out again, to be peremptorily recalled for encore, "My Rosary," with great feeling. To Mrs. Gibbons, particularly, "My Rosary" seemed not a mere theory but a soul condition realized.

Mrs. Charles Peckham's solo was sweet enough for an Angel's Serenade, and one wished to hear it again at sunrise, by moonlight, or any time. Glendale's favorite basso profundo, Norman Otis, made all of us with Scotch blood in our veins echo, "And it's Oh, but I'm longing for my ain hame." Furthermore, he made us imagine the big bell was ding-donging down in the cellar of the lighthouse.

Whenever Mrs. LeRoy W. Bosserman or Miss Gertrude Champlain went to the piano, something particularly good resulted. Mrs. Peckham had the double advantage of being accompanied by Mrs. Bosserman and Mr. Lowinski, whose sympathetic violin almost echoed the beautiful words. The combined result was an achievement. His interpretation of Wilhemy's understanding of Schubert's inspired "Ave Maria" made one long for the personal ecstacy of such receptivity coupled with such power of expression.

To call Suppe's masterly humoresque overture "The Jolly Robbers" is hardly fair to the masterful suggestiveness of its untranslated if not-in-der-Angleesche-untranslatable original Deutscher cognomen, "Banditenstrieche." But, like the rose, it would be O. K. under any name.

Entres nous: There is a move among the secret service men to cop Francis J. W. Henry for disturbing the peace at that concert also, the second offense within eight days. It is suspicioned that if he should sing, act and laugh "Tobermory," or "Killiekrankie" in the police court, the judge would disgrace the Bench, "An' Oh, but thees Scootch hae a way wi' 'em." Ane Sandy MacKai-i was in the audience and is going to consult a lawyer about some of the things Henry Lauder told of him in public last night. Trouble brewin'. Land o' Cakes! Aye, MacKaii!

The best evidence of Mrs. Grover Cable's great dramatic power is the deep feeling she aroused over that never-to-be-settled controversy as to whether Queen Elizabeth should have legally murdered her sister, Mary, Queen of Scots; or Mary should have succeeded in assassinating her sister, Elizabeth (as is alleged she tried); or whether for the betterment of the world, both those fiery, untameable daughters of polygamous Henry Eighth should have

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

SELF GOVERNMENT IN MECHANICAL ARTS BUILDING—SPELLING TEST

For the first time since the establishment of the department several years ago, the entire mechanical arts building is to-day being run by self-government. The three instructors, Mr. Oliver, Mr. Richardson and Mr. Hildebrand, accompanied by Laurence Rowe and George Terrill, have motored to San Bernardino, where they will visit the shops of the Santa Fe railroad and also several of the high schools of that district. Mr. Oliver, who has charge of the building, appointed Walter Peters as superintendent, while all of the other students have been put on their honor to take care of themselves and not to disturb anyone.

The second "surprise" test of the year took place this morning at nine o'clock. This time it was an old-fashioned spelling examination. The same list of words was given to the students of the Intermediate school and judging from some of the results it is highly probable that our grammar school friends will "show us up." The list consisted of fifty common words, most of them exceedingly easy, and anybody who got less than ninety per cent. should take a special course in spelling.

A short assembly was called Monday for the juniors and seniors only. The purpose of the gathering was two fold: the first part being turned over to Mr. Howe, who talked to the upperclassmen concerning the annual junior-senior reception, and the latter part being given to representatives from a Los Angeles College. These speakers discussed the general course taken up at the college, and explained why the war conditions are bringing on a greater demand for physicians. After the assembly all those students who were specially interested were given literature concerning the college.

The officers of the science club met with the program societies this noon in the Biology room. The purpose of the affair was to plan some novel entertainment for the near future.

THIRD STREET P.-T. A. CLOSES YEAR

The P.-T. A. of the Third street school held its last meeting of the year Monday afternoon. Yearly reports from the chairmen of all standing committees were read and the report of the historian, Mrs. C. M. Van Dyke, giving a resume of the entire year's work.

The following officers were elected for the new year: president, Mrs. H. W. Yarick; first vice-president, Mrs. R. A. Puffer; second vice-president, Mrs. G. W. Henderson; secretary, Miss Eva Daniels; treasurer, Mrs. C. M. Van Dyke, and historian, Mrs. H. A. McPherson.

A most delightful program followed, Cecil Crandall rendering three numbers on the violin, accompanied by Mrs. Eugene Murman. Genevieve Mulligan gave a pleasing reading and David Moncton played a cornet solo, accompanied by Miss Ellen Moncton.

Punch and cake were served by the hospitality committee and a social time enjoyed by all.

ATTEND G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT

The California and Nevada Department Encampment of the G. A. R. is in progress this week at Long Beach beginning Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and continuing until Friday. Delegates from N. P. Banks Post are C. H. Clark, J. H. Jordan and Thos. Gillette, with J. J. Wilson, Albert Sherman and J. Sauer as alternates. Others who have signified their intention of attending one or more sessions of the encampment are: T. B. Kanouse, Byron Taylor, A. H. Guernsey, T. M. Barrett, D. C. Alchenbrach, J. J. Weiler, U. H. Emick, B. F. Patterson, R. D. Goss, C. R. Norton, W. C. Gibbons, W. S. Studer and Wm. S. Collins.

MATILIJA POPPIES

Most beautiful specimens of that magnificent flower, discovered first in Matilija Canyon, near Ventura, were sent to the Chamber of Commerce this morning by Mrs. T. W. Preston. They are highly appreciated. Many thanks. Those lovely blossoms, so ephemeral, well illustrate the old poem (quoted at half guess by one who has not seen it in print since his boyhood):

Pleasure is like the poppy spread;
You touch the plant, the flower is dead;
Or like a snowflake on the river;
A moment white, then gone forever.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair to-night and Wednesday. Cloudy along the coast. Westerly winds.

PRESIDENT DEPLORES DELAYS

WILSON'S ADVISORS SAY HE IS OUT OF PATIENCE WITH CONGRESSIONAL INACTIVITY IN WAR MATTERS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Wilson's advisors say he is out of patience with the delays in Congress the past six weeks and the introduction of extraneous matter in war legislation. The president is planning a series of conferences with Democratic and Republican leaders when he will not mince words in condemning the delay. Secretary Daniels says Congressional inactivity is delaying the most important feature of war preparation, the equipment of submarine chasers.

PREPARES BIG OFFENSIVE

MILITARY MEN BELIEVE GERMANY IS GETTING READY FOR GREAT DRIVE IN WEST

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Members of the General Staff believe that Germany is planning the greatest offensive of the war on the west front. All signs point to this. With Russia eliminated as a military factor, Germany is transferring forces from the east to the French and Belgian fronts.

ANNOUNCE TERMS TO IRISH

LLOYD-GEORGE WILL MAKE KNOWN CONDITIONS OF SETTLEMENT IN HOME RULE QUESTION TO-MORROW

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, May 15.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Bonar Law announced to the House of Commons this morning that Lloyd-George will to-morrow transmit to the Irish leaders the terms of settlement of the Irish question.

BALTIC HAS NARROW ESCAPE

PASSENGERS SAY TORPEDO FROM GERMAN U-BOAT BARELY MISSED WHITE STAR LINER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, May 15.—A torpedo from a German submarine on April 19 missed the White Star liner Baltic by ten feet, according to passengers arriving to-day. It is also learned that ninety people were killed April 24 when the British steamer Abasso was torpedoed without warning off the coast of England.

GERMANS DRIVEN BACK

TEUTON ATTACKS AT POINTS ALONG BRITISH AND FRENCH LINES ARE REPULSED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, May 15.—German troops made heavy attacks along both the British and the French lines last night and this morning. All were repulsed.

FRANCE SHIFTS ARMY HEADS

GENERAL PETAIN, CHIEF OF STAFF, NAMED SUPREME COMMANDER OF FRENCH FIELD FORCES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, May 15.—Gen. Petain has been named Generalissimo, or Supreme Commander, of the French field forces. Gen. Foch succeeds him as chief of staff. General Mezille, former Generalissimo, has been named to command several army groups.

INSERT VOLUNTEER CLAUSE

ARMY BILL CONFEREES ADD AMENDMENT AUTHORIZING PRESIDENT TO RAISE VOLUNTEER FORCES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—After a short conference this morning, the conferees on the army bill inserted an amendment authorizing the president to raise a volunteer army. The bill was reported to both houses and it is expected both will concur quickly and it will go to the president to-morrow. Army staff officers oppose the measure as it now stands.

ADVOCATE CO-OPERATION

SIOUZ FALLS, S. D., May 15.—More economical conduct of trade was the big proposition before the Retail Merchants' association of South Dakota which met here to-day for a three days convention. Speakers urged closer co-operation between retailers and consumers.

GOLD SEEKERS IN THE ANDES

BUENOS AIRES, May 15.—Several licenses to gold seekers have been issued by the Argentine government to-day, permitting prospecting in the Milla Michico and Minero de Tillhue districts of the territory of Neuqen on the eastern slope of the Andes.

VISITS IMPERIAL

JESSE E. SMITH SPENDS TEN DAYS STUDYING CONDITIONS IN SOUTH

Jesse E. Smith, proprietor of the local Ford automobile agency, returned Sunday from a pleasant sojourn of ten days in the Imperial Valley. Mr. Smith accompanied his father, R. C. Smith of Detroit, Mich., on this trip and they made a thorough tour of the entire valley, visiting practically all of the towns in the valley as well as inspecting many of the ranches. The season in the valley, as well as everywhere else, is backward this year, although the last few days of their stay the temperature registered from 90 to 100. Cantaloupes are a month late. However, the crops are coming along nicely and the ranchers are looking forward to a splendid season. Conditions generally are very good.

Mr. Smith was especially pleased with the outlook in the Coachella valley, that portion of territory lying between Indio and Nilands. While present conditions there are very primitive and frontier-like, the district has a very promising future. At present they are shipping out large quantities of onions, $30,000 worth of the fragrant vegetable being shipped from one ranch alone.

Mr. Smith visited Imperial, Brawley, Holtville, Calipatria, Niland, Calexico and Mexicali. Two regiments were on patrol duty along the border and everything was quiet there. In El Centro they stopped at the famous Barbara Worth hotel and found the service and equipment of this hostelry all that they have been claimed. The city of Imperial, the only city in the valley selling liquor, has voted dry and all saloons will be cosed June 1. This makes the entire valley dry.

Mr. Smith was naturally interested in the Ford business in the valley and found conditions there the same as here and everywhere. The demand is so great that all dealers are behind in their orders.

Throughout the valley Mr. Smith found the merchants and ranchers very enthusiastic. Conditions are becoming more settled, water troubles are being eliminated and better highways are being planned and built. He was very favorably impressed with the country and feels that the valley has a wonderful future. With the exception of two months in the summer the climate is unexcelled and with the settling up of the country living conditions are becoming more pleasant.

LECTURES TO SCOUTS

Glendale Troop No. 1 Boy Scouts in charge of Scoutmaster Guthrie, were very instructively entertained Friday night at the High School Science Lecture Room by Prof. Poore. This was the first of a series of lectures on practical chemistry and the phenomena of every-day life.

A number of demonstrations were given by Prof. Poore last Friday night that were intensely interesting to the troop, especially the burning and boiling of gasoline, creation of limelight and charcoal and the illustration of how much heat energy is generated by one caramel or a teaspoonful of sugar. The flame that resulted from the sugar demonstration almost killed boyish desires for candy.

The boys were exceedingly attentive and took copious notes for future use. The questions asked indicated that the youth of to-day are certainly far advanced in technical knowledge and strictly up to date.

The boys are strong for Prof. Poore and certainly appreciated his generous courtesy.

WORK FOR RED CROSS

Junior High School girls led by Helen Begg, June Huskin, Ruth Hall, Ruth Begg and assisted by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Meeker and Bee Jolly, donated $13.00 to the Red Cross Society, as a result of their effort selling orangeade from the booth at Meeker's ranch for one day.

The Sparr Fruit Co. very kindly gave the oranges and have promised more for the special orangeade day which Glendale will have Saturday, May 19th. Mrs. James Ewins, of 747 South Verdugo road, has also promised eight or nine boxes for the special day. Chapter B. A. of P. E. O. has been appointed as a committee in charge, and assisted by the Junior High School girls and Boy Scouts Troop No. 1, expect to turn in quite an amount to the Red Cross as a result of their efforts.

Mr. and Mrs. Meeker have very generously offered the use of their orange booth for the selling of orangeade for the balance of the orange season, and the Junior High School girls, attractively dressed as Red Cross nurses, expect to turn in something every week for the Society.

BIBLE CONFERENCE

STRONG PROGRAM OF BIBLE TEACHERS ANNOUNCED AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

There has never been presented in Southern California a stronger program for a Bible conference than that which has been partially announced for the second annual meeting of the Glendale and San Fernando Valley Bible conference to be held in Gelndale Presbyterian Church May 24-27. Sessions each afternoon and evening, with three meetings on the Sabbath. Perhaps the strongest address of the entire list will be that of Dr. Coyle, pastor of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church, who will speak on "The Present World War in the Light of Prophecy." No man in the United States is better qualified to speak on this subject than is Dr. Coyle. Don't fail to hear him on Sunday afternoon, May 27.

The conference will open with a "Fellowship Supper," to be followed with an address by Dr. Torrey on the subject, "The Burning Question of the Day: Is Jesus Coming Again?"

Other speakers of note are as follows: W. E. Blackstone, Prof. H. W. Kellogg of Occidental College, Dr. Farr of Calvary Baptist Church, Los Angeles, Rev. M. C. Martin, of Anaheim, Dr. Pratt of Pasadena, Rev. J. H. Hunter of the Bible Institute, Rev. Geo. W. Davis of the Alliance Church of Los Angeles.

The closing address of the conference will be given by Dr. Evans of the Bible Institute. He stands in the front ranks of Bible teachers in this country.

The public is freely and fully invited to all sessions of the conference.

HOLLINGSWORTH-BOWERFIND

In the presence of the immediate family and a few close friends, the marriage of Miss Amy Bowerfind and Mr. Radcliffe Hollingsworth, Jr., was solemnized at the home of her mother, Mrs. Scott Johnson, 512 S. Brand boulevard, Tropico, by Rev. Milton S. Runkle of Alhambra at high noon on Monday, May 14th. Just before the appointed hour, Mrs. Charles Stewart sang "Thee" in her own most charming way, accompanied by Miss Gertrude Champlain at the piano. To the strains of the Norwegian Bridal March the bride and groom appeared unattended and took their places before the fireplace, banked as an altar with white roses, greenery and California poppies. The room was darkened and lighted by candles.

The bride was gowned in a simple costume of georgette crepe without veil and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids.

Following the ceremony, a dainty four-course wedding breakfast was served. The bride's bouquet in the beautiful silver flower holder carried by Mrs. Martha Morris at her marriage sixty-four years ago was later used to adorn the serving table that was laid with a beautiful lace cloth which held the bride's cake and the wedding cake.

The bridal couple departed on a brief trip of unknown destination. They will be at home Thursdays after June 1 at 512 S. Brand boulevard, Tropico, having rented the home place of her mother, who will spend the summer at Long Beach with her son, Lisle Johnson. Mrs. Hollingsworth was a popular teacher in the Tropico school for two years and resigned her position two weeks ago.

DR. HARROWER'S LECTURE TO-NIGHT

"The Problem of the High Cost of Living from a Medical Man's Standpoint," to-night in the High School auditorium, 8 o'clock. Don't forget this great free lecture. You don't have to be scientific to understand Dr. Harrower. You will be sure to receive valuable information on "How to get well," "How to stay well," and "How to live well" at a reduced expense. The lecture is given under the auspices of the High School and the Red Cross Society, who earnestly desire the wide dissemination of all available knowledge on this subject.

CHAUTAUQUA AT HOLLYWOOD

A seven-day Chautauqua was opened Friday the 11th, under the supervision of Ellison and White. Each day will be full, with entertainments, educational and otherwise, but all of the highest character. This was brought to the city by forty of the public spirited citizens of Hollywood, who guaranteed the success of the meetings. According to the program given in the "Hollywood Citizen" for each day, the Chautauqua is well worth the large attendance of those interested in such programs.

WORRYING ABOUT WHAT WE SHALL EAT

In the past few months there has been a great deal said in a public way about how to provide food stuffs for the masses. While it is absolutely necessary for people to consume food that the physical body may be kept up, yet it is true that a greater number of people have been injured in the past from the effects of eating too much food, rather than by not eating a sufficient amount of food. One commendable feature about the present food agitation is the fact that people are advised to use plain food, such that can be obtained with the least expense. Plain foods are usually less injurious to those using them than are foods that comprise combinations that are indigestible.

It is safe to say that ninety per cent. of the deaths that occur in early and middle life are caused from the effects of over eating, or eating foods improperly prepared. The boy or girl who begins this life with the digestive organs in healthy condition could live throughout his lifetime in good health. Disease is brought on by careless habits in eating, and in not properly taking care of the physical body. Now while there is being so much said about the conservation of foods, it is well to give emphasis to the importance of not over eating, and of eating foods that are properly cooked and foods that are easily digested and that will harmonize with other foods received into the stomach at the same time. In many instances it is the occasion of great distress to receive meats and acid foods into the stomach at the same meal. Tender meats may be all right in their place as foods, and the juicy acid fruits may be all right in their place; but the two together often make a combination that brings distress to the person who has eaten them.

It behooves every intelligent person to consider carefully what foods are best adapted for the building up of his physical organism. No one should be more interested in the health of an individual than is the individual himself. Persons having the care of dumb animals are more particular about the appropriateness of food given to those animals than they are of what foods are given to the members of their families. Food is the fuel which keeps the engine of the body at work, and therefore it is very essential. But great care, however, should be used to obtain the right kind of fuel.

HEADS I WIN, TAILS YOU LOSE POLICY

By insisting upon the right to strike, which the Supreme Court has said cannot be exercised by railroad men because of the public nature of their employment, the American Federation of Labor is itself reactionary, though it applies that word to the court. The strike applies to industrial disputes, the principle upon which despotic monarchs and aggressive nations act—that might is right. The Federation cannot reasonably maintain that it is impossible to devise a system of arbitration which will do justice between employer and employee and will thus render strikes unnecessary in order to secure justice. It follows then that the Federation wishes to retain the strike as a weapon in order to exact more than justice by might. Hence the Federation is reactionary and stands in the way of industrial peace.—Portland Oregonian.

WAR BRINGS MEATLESS DAYS TO FRANCE

Meat is taboo throughout France to-day. The government's schedule of two meatless days a week went into effect. For three months, on Tuesdays and Fridays, no kind of meat can be eaten in any restaurant or home. The restriction was accepted by the people with a spirit of co-operation as in making its order the government pointed out that this was merely a "wise precaution," pending the receipt of food supplies from the United States.

By the middle of August, it is expected a steady stream of meat products will be coming in from America, and the ban will then be lifted. Vegetable substitutes for meat were served in many cafes to-day.

MANY DEATHS IN NEW YORK

Although there is no shrapnel flying around the streets of New York, so many people are killed and hurt daily that a complete casualty list would look like an official battlefield statement, according to United Hospital statistics, made public to-day.

They show somebody is injured in the streets every 23 minutes and every 14 hours one is killed there. In the last 12 months 4224 persons met violent deaths in New York, 1147 were killed by falls, 765 died in street accidents and 428 burned to death.

MOBILIZING AGAINST FLIES

"Promptly mobilize all fly-fighting equipment such as screens, fly-traps, fans, etc., so the first flies may be captured."

This official order went forth from the bureau of animal industry to-day. It was the first gun in the 1917 spring offensive against the pest. Every energy of the bureau will be devoted to a big early smash against flies in the packing house districts, where millions of them breed unless precautions are taken.

The Glendale Evening News should be delivered at your home by the carrier not later than 4:30 p. m. every day except Sunday, and usually much earlier than that time. Subscribers who have not received their paper at 4:30 o'clock, should notify the office by phone: Glendale 132, Home 2401.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO-NIGHT

Regular meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce this evening at Chamber of Commerce rooms, 1010 West Broadway, at 7:30 o'clock.

Remember this is a regular meeting and all members and citizens are invited to be present.

HOME GUARD PHILOSOPHY

Men who, in the Civil War, served in the Home Guard because they were too young for active service, are now joining it again because they are too old to answer with their bodies the call of the nation to do duty as full soldiers. At fifteen, a boy of Boston, eagerly awaiting the day when he might be accepted as a soldier, shouldered a heavy old Enfield rifle and stood in the Home Guards' line. The end of the Civil War cut him off not only from the real soldier's career for which his heart burned but from the patriotic but modest service which he was performing. To-day, in his sixty-eighth year, hale and hearty, the same man enrols himself once more for the defense off Massachusetts' homes. He is out for the Home Guard, and it would be nothing less than a shame to decline his services.

There is one sorrow in war which has not been properly dwelt upon in literature. Mr. Wells touched upon it in "Britling," but he did not, as he usually does with whatever he handles, let his reader's mind into the very depths of the subject. This is the sorrow of the elderly man that it should be his son, his grandson, or his beloved nephew, the world all before him, who must be sacrificed on the altar of his country, and not himself. The man of sixty has had his fling in the world. Either his reputation is made or the proof has been afforded that he will never make it; his lips have kissed, or else forever missed, the sacred altar. What he can do for himself, or what the Lord can do for him, is done. What could he desire more than that a great patriotic service, even the sacrifice of his life, should crown his labors? There was a time when it might be done. Old men stood up in the Minute Men to fight for American liberty. The old Indian went with the war parties as long as his legs were valid—and if they failed, and on the march he had to be knocked in the head by his own people, he had the satisfaction of knowing, when he bared his brow to the blow, that he died for the tribe as much as any other. Even as late as the Boer war, three generations often lined up for the cause—grandsire, father, son. To-day, it is said, none but a young man can stand the trench service. But even as matters are, the old men may well ask: "If I can't stand it, why should I not have the chance not to stand it? Why should the boy, the hope of the future, be the only one to be sacrificed?"

Miss Jeannette Rankin, the woman member of Congress, thinks that this is all wrong—that instead of taking the boys for war and leaving the married men at home it should be just the other way around. The married men, she thinks, could be better spared. Perhaps she reasons that many of them are failures anyway—calamities to their wives, who would be only too glad to be lawfully rid of them. And even if they are still desired, they could readily be replaced if the bachelors were not sent away! This is a new notion in social economy—that war, if it must come (and Miss Rankin voted against it), should be utilized as a sort of rubbish-chute for undesired husbands. But there may be something in it. In any case, there is profound tragedy in the idea that the whole burden of service in the ranks must be borne by the priceless youth of the country.—Boston Transcript.

CHEESE VS. PORK CHOPS

Economy hint: eat 12 cents worth of cottage cheese and you'll get more protein than is contained in a pound and a half of pork chops, says the United States department of agriculture to-day. A pound of such cheese daily, the department declares, will supply all the protein required by an ordinary man working indoors.

The flowing bowl has been abolished by the Society of Colonial Wars, and some of the more pessimistic patriots fear that the war may compel the Ancients to disband in the interest of national economy.

Well, the Mongolia was pretty good—as a sample. Let's have the full order, rushed.

GARDEN SOCIETY NOTICE

At the last meeting of the Garden Society it was resolved to omit the meeting on the third Thursday of May. Therefore there will be no meeting on Thursday of this week, May 17. A gathering together, however, of officers, directors and all members willing to take active part during the summer in promotion of vegetable markets, and in work amongst the school children of Glendale, will be held on Thursday evening at 7:30 at the residence of the president, 1222 Milford street. Assistance in connection with the Soldiers of the Soil, a campaign for raising sufficient money to establish a central vegetable market site, expert advice in home gardening for those who seek it, will be amongst the important subjects to be discussed. The next regular meeting of the Society will take place on the first Thursday in June, the 7th prox., when the annual election of officers will be held.

The following poem has been sent to Mrs. Nanno Woods by the Secretary of Glendale Chamber of Commerce:

ONWARD, HERO PLANTERS
(Air: Onward, Christian Soldiers)

Dedicated to Glendale's Soldiers of the Soil by Walt. Le Noir Church, S. S.

Onward, hero planters, Soldiers of the Soil,
Marching ever onward, joyous in our toil.
Hoers we, and diggers, feeding every man,
Never such an army since the world began.

Chorus

Onward, hero planters, Soldiers of the soil.
Marching bravely forward, joyous in our toil.

Onward, dauntless planters, Soldiers of the Soil,
Planting is a pleasure, for 'tis honest toil;
Noble recreation, fighting with the hoe,
Labor is creation,—God first made it so.

Miss Erma Wooldridge, 706 W. Fifth street, spent Sunday at Rialto.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Farrell, 123 E. Broadway, spent the week end at Fillmore.

Mrs. B. D. Snudden, 133 S. Jackson street, is the guest for a few days of her mother in East Whittier.

Mrs. B. L. Cline, 400 West Ninth street, is convalescing from her operation made necessary by appendicitis.

Perce Curtis and family are changing their residence from 1304 N. Central avenue to 1330 N. Maryland avenue, Casa Verdugo.

Mrs. T. H. Addison, 316 Belmont, who has been quite ill, is on the way to recovery, as is also her daughter Marion, who has been ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Burket, 704 W. Fifth street, motored to Van Nuys, where they spent the week end with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cobb.

Mr. Wm. A. Goss, 712 W. Fifth street, treasurer of the Pacific Division of the Sons of Veterans, is attending the Encampment held in Long Beach to-day.

The ladies of the St. Mark's Guild gave a food sale last Saturday. The sale was on for two hours and $25.25 was realized. Truly a "whirlwind sale."

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Chase, 1500 Riverdale drive, left Saturday for a business trip in Arizona. They will be gone about a week, with their objective point Prescott.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crampton and daughter, Miss Grace Crampton, 1011 Chestnut street, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. MsAllister, 6720 Sunset boulevard, Hollywood, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Andrews, 1552 Pioneer drive, entertained with a dinner party, Sunday. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Hillman and sons, Messrs. Eugene and Richard Hillman, of Tropico.

The Rector's Guild met Monday afternoon at Miss Ellen Williams, 903 Dryden. Plans for a dinner to be given to the men of the church were made, and Mr. H. H. Parker chosen for the host of the evening.

Mrs. Robert Danner, 331 Gardena avenue, had as house guests from Friday till Sunday eve, her mother, Mrs. Mary Chadwick, sister, Miss Florence Chadwick, and cousin, Mr. James Adams of Long Beach. They with their hostess attended the Tropico carnival.

Dr. Manger and family of the Canyon Crest Sanitarium are on their way east. Dr. Manger will spend the three months of their stay principally in study and post-graduate work. They will visit Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore en route.

Dr. J. E. Eckles and wife and Mrs. Dean of Glendale, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Sharpe at their mine in Orange county. They made the trip by auto, and spent some of their stay in sightseeing of the surrounding country. A delightful trip throughout.

Rev. and Mrs. Norton, 373 West Third street, leave to-day for Long Beach, where they will attend the Department Encampment, G. A. R., and Women's Relief Corps, which convenes there until Friday. Rev. Norton will return should his services be needed in the meantime.

Mrs. W. M. Crawford, 916 South Central, left Monday for Long Beach, where she will attend the Woman's Relief Corps, G. A. R., Annual Convention, Department of the California and Nevada Section, which is in session until Friday. The headquarters are at the Hotel Virginia.

The Sunday School teachers and Bible Class of the Episcopal Sunday School of Third and Isabel streets, will give a card party at the home of Mrs. F. A. Hutchinson, 1724 Myrtle avenue, on Wednesday evening, May 16th. The Bible Class will be guests of the Sunday School teachers and officers.

In the benefit which was made for the Red Cross Chapter in Glendale by the selling of orangeade from booths on the boulevard at the Meeker ranch last Saturday, it was omitted from the account that Sparr & Co. Fruit Store in Glendale donated some of the oranges used. Their contribution was much appreciated.

Mrs. W. E. Evans, 113 Orange street, entertained recently in honor of her little daughter, Miss Catherine. The occasion was the fourth birthday. Luncheon was served to guests in the pergola. The decorations were of sweet peas and with the birthday cake with its complement of candles, a happy time was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Fansett, 324 Olive street, have had as house guests the past three weeks, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Phelps of Seattle. They returned home Sunday morning, going in their auto by way of the new ridge road, taking their hostess, Mrs. Fansett, with them as far as Bakersfield. She returned to Glendale Monday. A pleasant auto trip to Bakersfield was enjoyed.

HONOR MISS ADAMS

One of the pleasant events of the social season occurred Monday afternoon when Mrs. E. H. Willisford, Mrs. E. D. Yard, Mrs. E. L. Schuyler and Mrs. A. S. Chase, as hostesses, entertained nearly one hundred guests at the First Congregational Church, the occasion being a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Emma E. Adams, soon to be the bride of Mr. H. H. Laubach of Los Angeles.

The church was beautifully decorated with exquisite buds and blossoms from the Jewel City rose gardens.

The afternoon began with a get-acquainted game. Each person was given an odd-shaped slip of paper with a few words on it and asked to match it with five other slips of the same color. The group of six persons thus formed discovered that the words on the slips made a complete sentence which was a subject for conversation. This game broke the formality completely and was much enjoyed.

The program consisted of piano and violin selections and readings by the members of Miss Adams' Sunday School class. Miss Elizabeth Mottern ably assisted with a piano number, after which delicious refreshments were served.

Miss Adams received many beautiful and useful gifts. She looked charming in gown of silk, a remodel of her mother's wedding dress of over forty years ago. Miss Adams has been the very efficient treasurer of the Congregational Church and a teacher in the Sunday School since the organization of the church six years ago. Her sweet disposition and winning manner have greatly endeared her to all who have had the privilege of sharing her friendship, and her hosts of friends were very happy to have this opportunity of thus honoring her.

A WORTH WHILE LECTURE

Opportunities to spend our evenings profitably are coming to Glendalians thick and fast. The Red Cross concert last night is to be followed this evening by a lecture and again on Thursday evening a number of prominent speakers will come to the High School to tell of the work of the Army Y. M. C. A. and to enlist your interest in it.

The lecture to-night promises to be of unusual interest, for the subject, "Reducing the High Cost of Living, from a Medical Standpoint," is likely to be more than interesting. The speaker, Dr. Henry R. Harrower, will tell some things about physiological economy and the medical side of eating and nutrition which without question will be worth listening to.

Those who have heard the Doctor speak are looking forward to something out of the ordinary, for his work has led him into fields of study regarding the chemistry of the body, which are as fascinating as they are profitable.

The lecture will be given under the auspices of the High School Faculty and the Glendale Auxiliary of the American Red Cross. It will be held in the High School auditorium at eight o'clock this evening and there will be no charge for admission.

PRESIDENT'S AUTOGRAPH

Dr. H. R. Harrower who directed the concerts given May 7 and 14 for the benefit of the Red Cross sent one of the elaborate programs to President Wilson with the following letter:

Hon. Woodrow Wilson,
White House, Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. President: The chairman of the Glendale auxiliary of the American Red Cross has placed the responsibility of a series of entertainments upon my shoulders, and it has occurred to me that we might have a little novelty and opportunity for securing additional funds if you would sign one of our souvenir programs and permit me to auction it off at the first or second concert.

Perhaps this is too great an imposition to ask of the president of the United States, but as the president of the American Red Cross it may seem different, and I trust to have a favorable reply just as soon as possible for the dates of the concerts are May 7 and 14 respectively.

With expressions of personal appreciation and warmest fealty, I remain,

Yours very sincerely,
Henry R. Harrower

Monday afternoon, Dr. Harrower received the program with the president's signature enclosed with the following letter:

The White House, Washington
May8, 1917

Personal

My Dear Sir:

The president has been glad to autograph the program cover which accompanied your letter of April 27, and I am returning it herewith.

Sincerely yours,
J. Tumulty,
Secretary to the President

Dr. Henry R. Harrower,
Glendale, Cal.

The program containing the president's autograph was sold at auction last night to Mr. S. W. Jamieson for $6 which amount was aded to the Red Cross fund. Mr. Jamieson will resell the program for $10 and donate the $10 to the same cause.

become angels in early infancy. To "play" either "Mary" or "Elizabeth" is an achievement. But to so portray those strangely complex characters alternately is a wonder in histrionics. Yet with two such names as "Grover" and "Cable," much would be expected (by a New York-Virginia-Marylander).

Miss Helene Constance Morgan must be the reincarnation of some musical genius. In one so young, one seldom finds such discriminating insight into the mysteries of Chopin,, followed by such interpretation of one so different as Bortkiewiez; and then her encore selection, so very different still. Her pupils have unusual advantages, for they can have an inspiring model to suit their own varying tastes and capabilities. Tropico must be proud of her charming little prodigy, who looks like a school girl and plays the piano like a virtuoso.

Dr. Harrower read a letter from President Wilson's secretary, returning the Red Cross program of that concert, bearing the President's autograph. Rr. Harrower auctioned it off. The Secretary of Glendale's Chamber of Commerce wanted it to display in the C. C. show window on Broadway; but it was bid in at six dollars by Mrs. S. W. Jamieson, who will sell it for ten dollars, to be added to his six for Red Cross benefit, and the letter donated to the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

President Braly publicly thanked all those who had aided in the strenuous work of getting up and giving those two concerts. One especially deserving of mention, because he is only a visitor, is Mr. Kirk, of New York, who spent much time taking auto loads of fair ticket sellers around to neighboring towns, with much profit to the Red Cross.

Dr. Harrower announced that on Wednesday evening a free lecture will be given in the High School auditorium pertaining to the high cost of living. That interesting lecture will be given by Dr. Harrower, who was too modest to announce it last night.

The pleased public as well as the Red Cross are indebted to the artistic taste and hard work of Mrs. Glenwood Jones and Mrs. P. F. Peirce for the decorations which so beautified the High School auditorium.

If every effort at entertaining the public for Red Cross betterment shall be as successful as Dr. Harrower's two concerts, and the Tuesday Afternoon club's benefit at the home of Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, the secretary of the Red Cross, the work would receive a wonderful impetus.

Perhaps more Glendalians would patronize such laudable efforts if our own Glendale had her own Red Cross Chapter.

BIG DAY AT PACIFIC AVENUE SCHOOL

Last Friday afternoon from one to two o'clock the parents visited the different rooms where much of the children's work was on exhibit, arranged in most artistic fashion.

At two o'clock the children marched into the beautiful open air court of the school and grouped themselves about Old Glory and the flag-pole which graces the center of the court. A short but stirring patriotic program was given, closing with the allegiance to the flag uttered with truly heart-felt enthusiasm.

Immediately afterward the marketing began at the children's beautifully decorated, well-filled booths of home produce. Vegetables, candy, popcorn, cakes and willow baskets were a few of the articles which were on sale having been made or raised by the children.

With so many attractive booths the awarding of the prize became a difficult matter. It was necessary to divide the $2.00 prize offered by the Garden Society between the owners of two booths. James and Robert Frey and Jack Finch had one booth together, while the other booth which tied it was owned by Jack Hilbert and Harold Begg. The most artistic booth was trimmed by Edgar Brown and Gordon Richardson.

At two-thirty the P.-T. A. assembled in parliamentary drill, with Mrs. Greenwalt in charge. The mock motions and lively debate caused considerable merriment. After the drill the annual election of officers took place. The following ladies will serve as officers the coming year: Mrs. Minnette Sherman, president; Mrs. J. P. Hilbert, first vice-president; Mrs. A. S. Chase, second vice-president; Mrs. Robt. Yost, third vice-president; Mrs. F. C. Herron, secretary; Mrs. Frank Ayars, treasurer; Mrs. W. C. Alvord, historian; Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, parliamentarian.

Miss Eulalia Richardson told of the work of the Women's Auxiliary of the Home Guards, and especially the work on food conservation and elimination of waste. A discussion of practical suggestions on methods of saving followed.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC RAILWAY

HAND IT TO THE MONOPOLIES

Street car and passenger fares, ferry fares, and theatre tickets, even freight rates have not gone up like other things.

After all, the high cost of living cannot be blamed on what may be considered the greatest monopolies.

The Saturday Evening Post says transportation is the cheapest service the American people get at present.

Manufacturing, government local, state and national, mining, and merchandising have all gone up in cost.

Telephone and telegraph rates have not gone up, and in many cases have been reduced and service improved.

Gas, electric light and power have gone down, and in many cases water rates have been reduced, few rates are raised.

The monopoly that has been abused by the newspapers on all occasions—the Pullman Car Co.—has not raised rates.

Dining cars have not raised rates for meals, and lunch and plate service have actually lowered the cost of meals.

The middleman and the producer have profited by the all-round raise in the cost of existence more than the hated monopolies.

What about flour monopolies?

HATS OFF TO AMERICAN ENGINEERS

American ingenuity and skill again step into the limelight with nine regiments of railway engineers being organized to go to France and straighten out work on lines of communication.

The regiments will be raised from the great railway centers of the U. S. and will be railway engineers and officials.

The fact that American engineers from private railroads are to be the first men sent to the front to work on lines of government operated system of French roads, speaks volumes for the efficiency of the American system of privately owned and operated railroads.

It is an admitted fact that we have the finest trains, running on the fastest time with lowest rates and best accommodations of any country in the world, and yet there are many politicians and well meaning people who advocate the European system of government ownership in the U. S.

PREVENTING MILK FROM BOILING OVER

Among the various devices which are intended to prevent milk from boiling over we noticed on which solves the problem in a very simple way, says the Scientific American. It consists of a straight tube of say two or three inches in diameter at the top and expanding somewhat toward the bottom, where it is provided with a flaring and cup-shaped end of rather large diameter, the whole being somewhat of trumpet shape. Out of the lower part are cut, say, four suitable openings, and we set the device upright in the vessel with the small end just out of the liquid. Should the milk tend to boil violently this action commences at the bottom, and the liquid is forced up the tube, then falls upon the surface again, so that the boiling action will continue in this way and the milk has no tendency to leave the vessel.

WHY FISH WILL FALL UPWARD

The deep-sea fish are subject to a pressure internally, by gases, and externally of over two tons to the square inch, and under this pressure they are quite solid. When these fish are brought to the surface in nets their bodies become puffy, their bones loose and their eyes start out of their heads; very often they burst. This is because the pressure is released.

When these fish of the deep sea chase their prey or rise for some reason high above the ocean bed, the gases of their swimming bladders expand and they become light. The fish whose muscles are not strong enough to take it down deeper into the ocean expands more and more until it rises upward to the surface and is killed, so that it really "falls upward."

COLUMBIA OPENS SCHOOL OF WARFARE

NEW YORK, May 15.—Registration for instruction in Columbia university's "war school" closed to-day with scores of embryo generals learning the modern art of battle.

In the military division, under Prof. Vickers and Capt. Van Liew, students are being instructed in dealing with noxious gases and liquid fire, trench fighting, rifle bullet penetration through different metals, how to take cover, "digging in," light and portable trench tools, the use of the sand bag, working under fire, barbed wire methods of erection, mining and counter mining, the periscope and its uses, trench attacks and bombing raids.

The naval division under Prof. Slichter, is devoted principally to the electrical work on Uncle Sam's fighting ships, including searchlight operation, turret control and gun-fire.

Tuition is free. Sham battles, in which every element of a European fight will be introduced in theory, are to conclude the course of study next month. The whole program will probably be repeated in the summer school session.

THE REAL GIVERS

(W. H. Ridgway in Sunday School Times.)

Once upon a time I was anchored in a little town in New England on a Wednesday night. I dropped in to the first church I came to for prayer meeting. The minister was away and the Women's Foreign Missionary Society had the meeting. They were considering China and presented the usual interesting report of the great missionary things going on there. When the meeting was thrown open for everybody a pompous and voiceful man got up and with great vigor criticised the attention to the heathen abroad when there were so many heathen at home "right in this very town," yes, sir! That was more than I could stand, so I arose and told him some more things. I had just been with Robert E. Speer, a secretary of the Foreign Mission Board of the Presbyterian Church, and with John R. Mott, head of the Foreign Mission work of the Young Men's Christian Association. I told the man that though I had never seen him before nor knew anything about him, I would wager he did not do one single thing or give more than a pittance for "the heathen at home." In the enthusiastic reception I got from the women after the meeting I learned I had guessed right in sizing up my man. Folks who talk big about things for the "poor at home" rarely do anything for the "poor at home." The same big hearts do all the giving in town. The man who gives to the Village Improvement Fund is the man who gives to all the other good things. The man who gives nothing for foreign missions gives the same princely sum to the Soup Society and the hospital and the children's playground and all the other home mission enterprises in which he believes (?) so heartily.

MEAT IS CHEAP IN BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO, April 15 (By Mail)—Brazil's meat market has not yet been stampeded by the high cost of living—doubtless because there are about twice as many cattle in the country as people. The last bovine census placed the figures at 50,000,000 head.

Despite the advice of health authorities who prescribe a light meat diet during hot weather, Brazilians eat approximately their own weight in flesh, fish and fowl annually. And hot weather is Brazil's eternal portion.

To feed the aggregate stomach of Rio de Janeiro during 1916 it required 105,000,000 pounds of beef, 2,500,000 pounds of veal, 5,700,000 pounds of pork and 400,000 pounds of mutton, to say nothing of a daily portion of apout sixty tons of fish, and equal weight of dried beef, 30,000 pounds of poultry and a liberal amount of goat flesh and wild game.

Brazilians probably are great meat eaters because, relatively, meat is the cheapest thing to eat. Prices fluctuated in 1916 between 7 and 13 cents a pound for beef, 7 and 15 cents for veal and 15 and 23 cents for pork.

THE PARABLE OF THE DOLLARS

(From the Christian Herald)

These are busy days in one of the small Methodist churches of Paterson, N. J. On a recent Sunday evening the pastor invited W. H. Gould, a friend, to his church to speak. Mr. Gould came, and made a brief address, which impressed the people present. He then made them a unique offer. He said he would send their pastor one hundred new one-dollar bills, to be distributed among the members and their friends. each to receive a single bill, which they were to invest for one year. The income from this dollar is to be brought in one year hence, and the one whose dollar has gained the most is to receive a prize of fifty dollars, the next thirty dollars. Each one is now taxing his inventive genius to the utmost, striving to make the most of his dollar, and when the money is turned over the church will have a jubilee. Some are out now planning all sorts of entertainments where they can spend just that dollar, to receive it back with the profits, though they are not supposed to ask any member of the church for any support. In this way they are interesting people outside of the church, which will doubtless have the influence of bringing them inside. One woman is using her dollar each week to buy materials with which she is making home made crullers; another, home-made cakes; another, bread; some, fancy work; others crocheting; and some are holding socials, and by the end of the year they expect to have a big sum of money collected, and a large number of new members to add to their church roll.

EAGLE SYMBOL OF POWER

From ancient times the eagle, as the king of birds, has been looked upon as the symbol of power. The American eagle is the native bald eagle and was first adopted on the seal of the United States on June 20, 1782, against the bitter opposition of Franklin This patriot looked up to it as a Caesarian emblem and wanted to know what was the matter with the wild turkey, as being more distinctly American. Nevertheless the eagle was accepted, not only on the seal, but on the first coin issued by the United States in 1795, and on a majority of the coins since.

Turkey formally breaks with the United States, but the process didn't make even half as much noise as a Nostrand avenue subway cave-in.—Brooklyn Standard-Union.

NEW THOUGHT

"The Music of the Spheres." "Some think this is a poetical illusion. Is there any reason or any proof for thinking otherwise?

"In music we have what are called harmonics, a number of musical tones forming a harmonic series. By means of Bode's law of harmony Neptune was discovered, for the planets themselves form an harmonic series.

"A great discovery was made by a Welsh lady, a teacher of voice culture. Certain harmonic tones of the human voice were found to produce nature forms like the snow crystal, the fern and daisy. This was shown when the tones were produced through an instrument like a horn which had previously been prepared by stretching a skin tightly over the larger end and covering it with paste and beads or sand. Although harmonic tones produced these forms, a sharp or flatted tone would disintegrate them.

"Now apply this to New Thought philosophy. We rightly say we must be harmonious and that discord is disintegrating. Any thought of anger (tense, sharp thoughts) makes sensitive people ill. When you fly to pieces your inharmonious thoughts set up an inharmonious reaction or vibration. Therefore harmonious, or musical, thoughts in the mind set up harmonious vibrations in the body and that molds the body and the brain. The brain can be developed, the cells made to grow. Remember the mind controls the brain, not the brain the mind. Character is told by the shape of the brain as well as by the features and the hand.

"What do I learn from this? I believe God is Good, is Love and Wisdom, the One Supreme Power and must be harmonious. If I am God's image and likeness, I must try to be like him.

"I like to think that God's thoughts set in vibration these harmonic tones that cause the music of the spheres."

The topic for Dr. Frank Riley's next lecture will be "St. Paul's Thorn in the Flesh," which he will deliver the evening of May 27th.

RUSSIA—AMERICA

A wind in the world! The dark departs;
The chains now rust that crushed men's flesh and bones,
Feet tread no more the mildewed prison stones,
And slavery is lifted from your hearts.

A wind in the world! O Company
Of darkened Russia, watching long in vain,
Now shall you see the cloud of Russia's pain
Go shrinking out across a summer sky.

A wind in the world! Our God shall be
In all the future left no kingly doll,
Decked out with dreadful sceptre, steel and stole,
But walk the earth—a man in charity.

A wind in the world! And doubts are blown
To dust along, and the old stars come forth—
Stars of a creed to Pilgrim Fathers worth
A field of broken spears and flowers strown.

A wind in the world! Now truancy
From the true self is ended; to her part
Supreme again she moves—and from her heart
A great America cries: Death to Tyranny!

A wind in the world! And we have come
Together, sea by sea; in all the lands
Vision doth move at last, and Freedom stands
With brightened wings, and smiles and beckons home!

CAHUENGA CHAPEL TO BE RESTORED

The state legislature has made appropriation of $6,000 for restoration of the Cahuenga Chapel at foot of the Cahuenga Pass. This will be in the shape of a monument to those two great men, Gen. John C. Fremont and Pio Pico. It will be one of the historical spots of the state, as here the treaty was signed by John C. Fremont which made California a United States possession. The Cahuenga Pass thus made more attractive, will affect real estate sales and values in West San Fernando Valley. Universal City on one side, and this restored chapel as a historical museum on the other side of the boulevard, will impress the sightseers of California favorably of the Cahuenga Pass country. West on the banks of the river are the ruins of other buildings aside from the mound of earth on the boulevard, and the large oak tree nearby is supposed to be the one under which the noted treaty was signed.

Every back yard where the sun shines even half of the day is suitable for raising enough beans for family use throughout the summer. Kentucky Wonder or Lazy Wife, as it is sometimes called, is one of the best varieties to plant. Water and cultivate and pick them fresh and crisp when wanted.

Electric generating stations in the United States generated 23,300,000,000 kilowatt hours which sold for $417,000,000 during the year 1916.

BEYOND

In what green, smiling land,
By what blue, shining sea,
Shall we one day go faring, hand in hand,
For sake of memory?

The songs I made for you,
Shall they come back to bring,
In starry flight, winged visions, bravely new,
Of Love, and Youth, and Spring?

Red roses have I thrown
Before your dancing feet,
And held you once forevermore my own,
When yet the world was sweet.

But sharp is sorrow's touch
Unto my troubled soul,
Knowing, my dear, I loved you overmuch,
And paid a bitter toll.

Yet love that falls on earth,
I think, shall somewhere be
Dazzling and white, with glory of new birth,
Free as the winds are free.

In what green, smiling land,
By what blue, shining sea,
Shall we one day go faring, hand in hand,
For sake of memory?

Alhambra boys and girls were busy tagging the people of Alhambra, Saturday, May 12th. The receipts from these tags will be used in the purchase of the beautiful emblem of American liberty for which the Chamber of Commerce has contracted and will raise and dedicate at the great "Get Together" all-day celebration in Alhambra Thursday, May 17th. Some of the features will be soldiers with regimental band, flag dedication at library grounds, high school orchestra, athletic sports on high school grounds, Maypole dance and picnic lunch, followed in the evening by a high class vaudeville. This will do honor to a "Community Flag."

TRAINS OF THOUGHT

What we need for most of our trains of thought is more freights and fewer parlor cars.

The average train of thought isn't big enough to carry a full sixed opinion on any subject.

Most of them are forever going and never getting anywhere. What they need is a new schedule and a fresh timetable.

The greatest trouble is, though, that some men are too narrow-minded to accommodate broad-gauge tracks for their trains of thought. Their equipment could all run on a gnat's eyebrow and never fall off.

Take a look at your train of thought sometime. See if it is suffering from any of these defects. If it is, flag it at once and see what can be done.
